

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A gradient coil system for a magnetic resonance apparatus has oblong stiffening elements that are heterogeneously arranged in the gradient coil system such that at least one oscillatory mode of the gradient coil system that can be excited during operation of the magnetic resonance apparatus is reduced.

20170101 04:45:59